

White Wood Aster

Eurybia divaricata

Growing Information

- Plant Type: Perennial
- Sunlight: Part shade, Shade
- Soils: Average, Moist or Dry
- Bloom Time: White flowers in August, September
- Size: 1-2ft in height

Plant as a groundcover, border, or accent plant—it is an especially great choice for dry shade and under trees. Readily spreads by seeds and will fill in, but easily controlled by cutting seed heads or easy weeding. This plant is unpalatable to rabbits and deer.

Garden Companions

White Snakeroot (Ageratum altissima), Wild Geranium (Geranium maculatum), Blue-stemmed Goldenrod (Solidago caesia), King Solomon's Seal (Polygonatum biflorum), Wild Columbine (Aquilegia canadensis)

Nature Benefits

- Host plant for the caterpillar stage of the Pearl Crescent and Checkerspot butterflies.
- Provides nectar for pollinators.

Natural Habitat

Occurs in dry open woodlands and woodland edges.
